

July 11, 2019

#RileyFellows in the News

Beverly Haines (Upstate, Fall 2013) has been named chairman of the Greenville Area Development Corporation Board of Directors for 2019-20. Read more.

Anthony Jackson (Lowcountry, Fall 2016) was named the new - and first black - CEO of all three Roper St. Francis hospitals, exactly 50 years after a federal judge ordered Roper Hospital to start admitting black patients in 1969. Read more.

Lenza Jolley (Midlands, Spring 2017) is the new communications manager for the South Carolina Restaurant and Lodging Association. Read more.

Ken May (Lowcountry, Fall 2010) received the prestigious Scottie Award by the South Carolina Arts Alliance, awarded to people whose contributions to the arts in South Carolina have been extraordinary over their careers. Read more.

Councilwoman Lessie Price (Midlands, Spring 2011) was honored with the official opening of the Lessie B. Price Senior and Youth Center in Eustis Park, Aiken. Read more.

Follow us on social media @rileyinstitute!

Instagram | Facebook | Twitter | LinkedIn