Community volunteer Charlotte Berry has dedicated her life to philanthropy and community service. When she was just ten years old, she embarked on her first fund-raising campaign, raising $13 and buying 92 quarts of milk for impoverished children in rural Tennessee. Since then she has given millions of dollars to charity and worked with groups and organizations to collaborate innovatively on programs and initiatives that improve people’s lives.

As longtime chair of the American Red Cross, Charlotte Berry supervised and planned for over one million volunteers. Moreover, she has served on both national and regional boards of the United Way, including as board chair of United Way of South Carolina. In South Carolina, Charlotte has also served on the boards of Women in Philanthropy, South Carolina State Museum Foundation, Junior Achievement, Sexual Trauma of the Midlands, Benedict College, Wofford College, Palmetto Conservation Foundation, City Year Columbia, and Columbia College. In addition, she has worked with the Historic Columbia Foundation, YWCA, Palmetto Conservation Foundation, South Carolina Independent Colleges and Universities, Columbia Museum of Art, Palmetto Health Foundation, Girl Scouts of the Congaree Area, Central Carolina Community Foundation, Meals on Wheels and The Nurturing Center.

The recipient of numerous prestigious community awards including the Order of the Palmetto from the State of South Carolina, Charlotte feels a lifetime of philanthropy has proven time and again that involvement is a rewarding process.
The Award for Excellence in Legislative Leadership is presented to a member of the South Carolina House or Senate who best exemplifies the highest principles of leadership, integrity, compassion, vision and courage. Recipients have demonstrated the ability to collaborate with fellow legislators, regardless of party affiliation, to effect positive change in South Carolina.

Past Legislative Award Winners

2017    Representative Weston Newton
2016    Representative Rita Allison
2015    Senator Clementa Pinckney (posthumous award)
2014    Speaker Jay Lucas
2013    Senator Paul Campbell
2012    Representative James Harrison
2011    Representative James Smith
2010    Senator Wes Hayes

2007    Senator Hugh Leatherman
2006    Speaker Bobby Harrell
2005    Senator John Drummond
Senator John W. Matthews, Jr.

Senator John W. Matthews, Jr. represents Senate District 39, which includes parts of Orangeburg, Calhoun, Berkeley, Colleton and Dorchester Counties. First elected to the State House in 1974, he is the longest serving African American state legislator in South Carolina, serving in the House from 1975-84 and in the Senate since 1985. Currently, he is a member of these Senate committees: Agriculture & Natural Resources; Banking & Insurance; Education; Ethics; Finance; Fish, Game, & Forestry; and Interstate Cooperation.

Senator Matthews has served under eight governors during his 44 years as a South Carolina legislator. Over the years, he has worked tirelessly to bring jobs and economic development to his constituents, improve education in his district, and expand access to health care. As someone focused on providing servant leadership, he is motivated by his desire to bring better outcomes to the lives of the people he represents.

A graduate of South Carolina State University, Senator Matthews is a retired elementary school principal, businessman and farmer. The recipient of numerous awards, he is the father of five grown children and was married to his late wife Geraldine for nearly 55 years.
Elizabeth Davis

Elizabeth Davis became Furman University’s 12th President on July 1, 2014. Under her leadership, the university has instituted The Furman Advantage, a distinctive vision for higher education that combines learning with immersive experiences outside the classroom, creating a personalized pathway that prepares students for lives of purpose, successful careers and community benefit. Dr. Davis received her Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Baylor in 1984 and earned her Ph.D. from Duke University in 1992.

Dick Riley

Richard W. Riley, for whom the Riley Institute at Furman is named, is the former U.S. Secretary of Education (1993–2001) and former Governor of South Carolina (1979–1987). Secretary Riley is currently a senior partner in the law firm of Nelson Mullins Riley & Scarborough and its affiliate, EducationCounsel. Riley is the recipient of numerous education and other public service awards. In 2009, TIME magazine named Riley one of the Top 10 Best Cabinet Members in our nation’s history.
David Wilkins

Ambassador David Wilkins is a partner at Nelson Mullins Riley & Scarborough. He chairs the firm’s Public Policy and International Law practice group, which focuses primarily on representing businesses on both sides of the U.S.-Canadian border. Wilkins served as the United States Ambassador to Canada from June 2005 until January 2009. Prior to his appointment as ambassador to Canada, Wilkins served 25 years in the South Carolina House of Representatives, 11 of those as speaker.

Jay Lucas

James H. “Jay” Lucas was first elected to the South Carolina House of Representatives in 1999 to serve District 65, which represents portions of Darlington, Kershaw, Lancaster, and Chesterfield Counties, and he has served as House Speaker since 2014. Currently a partner at the law firm of Lucas, Warr, & White, Lucas has worked in local government as financial director, county administrator, county attorney, and city judge. Lucas graduated magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa from the University of South Carolina and received his J.D. from University of South Carolina School of Law, where he was managing editor of the South Carolina Law Review. He is a recipient of the 2014 David H. Wilkins Award for Excellence in Legislative Leadership.

Furman University’s Riley Institute broadens student and community perspectives about issues critical to South Carolina’s progress. It builds and engages present and future leaders, creates and shares data-supported information about the state’s core challenges, and links the leadership body to sustainable solutions.

Launched in 1999, the Institute is named for former South Carolina Governor and former United States Secretary of Education Richard W. (Dick) Riley. It is committed to nonpartisanship in all it does and to a rhetoric-free, facts-based approach to change.
