

RI SUMMER INSTITUTE FOR TEACHERS OF GOVERNMENT
Schedule of Activities, Washington, D. C.
July 18-21, 2011

SUGGESTIONS FOR EVERY DAY – Wear light clothes and comfortable walking shoes. Do not bring large bags with lots of stuff (scissors, tweezers, knives, etc.) that will delay getting through security. You'll gain lots of material along the way, so pack lightly each day. YOU MUST BRING PHOTO ID DAILY.

SUGGESTION FOR WEEKEND EATING -- AMERICA EATS TAVERN, 405-8th St, NW (on 8th between D and E Streets), was created in partnership with the Foundation for the National Archives as a culinary extension of the exhibit, What's Cooking, Uncle Sam? that you will visit Monday morning.

This temporary American restaurant was created by 2011 James Beard Outstanding Chef Award recipient, Jose Andres, who owns several restaurants in Washington, as well as in Las Vegas and California. José Andrés and business partner Rob Wilder have transformed their renowned Café Atlántico restaurant into America Eats Tavern, with a menu and environment inspired by the exhibit and the rich history of American cooking. José has also been named Chief Culinary Advisor to the exhibit, contributing both to the exhibit catalog and recipe book, as well as collaborating with the National Archives on a series of public programs that will focus on the role of Government in our daily diet.

America Eats Tavern opened July 4th 2011. Named after the Works Progress Administration (WPA) writers project of the 1930s, America Eats offers a new take on American classics and celebrates native ingredients and some long-forgotten dishes, from burgoo to oysters Rockefeller. With recipes and stories collected through extensive research, and with help from the National Archives and a culinary advisory council of chefs and scholars, the menu showcases the fascinating history of our nation one plate at a time, whether it's the origins of New England clam chowder or the introduction of grapefruit to America. A casual tavern menu is offered on the ground floor, while a more elegant menu is featured upstairs.

America Eats is a six-month "benefit" destination. Profits gained from the restaurant during the run of the What's Cooking, Uncle Sam? exhibit will be donated to The Foundation for the National Archives.
