

Minor Mickel Shaw is president of Micco Corporation. She currently serves as chairman of The Daniel – Mickel Foundation and she is a trustee of the Duke Endowment, the Hollingsworth Funds and the Belle Baruch Foundation. She is on the boards of BlueCross BlueShield of South Carolina, Piedmont Natural Gas and Columbia Nations Funds. She formerly served as director of Interstate/Johnson Lane. She is vice-chairman of the Greenville-Spartanburg Airport Commission where she was instrumental in bringing Southwest Airlines to South Carolina. She is also on the boards of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, the South Carolina Governor's School for the Arts Foundation and The Palmetto Institute. Minor's previous leadership has included positions as chairman of the United Way of South Carolina, the Wofford College Board of Trustees, the South Carolina Foundation for Independent Colleges, the South Carolina ETV Endowment, the Community Foundation of Greenville, the Urban League of the Upstate and the YMCA of Greenville. She helped found Roper Mountain Science Center in Greenville and the South Carolina Governor's School for the Arts & Humanities year-round school. Minor is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where she has served on the General Alumni Association Board, the UNC Board of Visitors, the National Campaign Steering Committee, and she is a former chairman of the Arts & Sciences Foundation.

She has been recognized as Volunteer of the Year for the YMCA of Greenville, Citizen of the Year of the Greenville Chapter of the Institute of Management Accountants and a Woman of Distinction of the Greenville area Girl Scouts Council. The Greenville News named Minor in its "Top 25 Most Influential". She has won statewide and local awards including the state of South Carolina's Order of the Palmetto Award, the Greenville Chamber of Commerce Chairman's Award and the Athena Award, and the Urban League's Whitney Young Humanitarian Award. Minor and her husband Hal reside in Greenville, and they have three children and six grandchildren.